The Substitute

A JUNIOR RED CROSS STORY

The man in the street stopped short. A crowd of children had gathered round a window in the busy thoroughfare, their faces pressed against the glass. Because he was a childless man with a great love of children buried in his heart he stopped and joined the throng. The window was a large one, and filled with toys—that of course, was the attraction.

"I think it's a lovely story" said the chubby child.

"Yes, and it's a lovely story, too, and it is all about us," replied the thoughtful looking girl.

The man became interested. The children's chatter was unintelligible to him.

"What's it all about," asked the man with a smile.

The children nudged each other, with whispers of shyness. Then a little girl spoke up frankly; "This window tells a story of what the Junior Red Cross means, and shows you what it is doing."

The man became interested—he was a hardlooking, matter-of-fact, ordinary business man of the type who sees life as it is,—unimaginative, materialistic. "Go on with the story," said the man with a smile.

"Well, when all the nations were at war," said the girl, "boys and girls learned to help the Red Cross Society, and they learned to knit and sew for the soldiers in the hospitals. Then the war stopped, but all these children thought there were still a lot of sick people in the world, and they wished they could help them too, just like they had helped the soldiers.

"They soon found out that a great big bunch of children were in bad shape because maybe their daddy were dead or their mothers were unable to take care of them, being poor

"The children made themselves into a big Junior Red Cross Society made up of boys and girls all over the world who were going to do all they could to help other boys and girls that were no so happy as themselves."

ed to look after them and get their sickness cured if they were too poor to pay for a doctor. They held meetings and had a real president in the chair, not a grown-up, but a boy or a girl, they had a secretary, too, and a newspaper of their own called the Red Cross Junior, where they read all about other

Juniors. They paid 25 cents each to join and they had to earn their membership fees not just ask their fathers and mothers for them, but to earn them, through service.

"At these meetings they talked over lots of things. Everybody was able to take part in the meetings if they wanted to, for it was run by the children for the children. The girls would all take something to sew for the Relief service, and these garments would be sent away to some folks where sadness had come to their home, and they were not able to get clothes for their new baby, or the children needed something cosy to go to school in on the cold days.

"The boys made things too, not in wool, but in wood, and these toys of folks who were too poor to get since presents for their children, so the Junior Red Cross played Santa Claus to 2,800 children last winter, and sent out 14,400 toys into the country.

"Look! there are the very things all spread out in the window to tell people what we are doing," and the child pointed with pardonable pride to a display of hand-made toys that were worthy of needlework and knitting and original praise.

"Besides that work, we learn to take care of our own health, and have little Health Talks and health game which if we play it properly will make us all ever so strong and healthy and we won't need curing, for we won't get sick." The man smiled. He was a hypsopstic and envied the children their glowing health.

"We learn what to eat, and soon we have to get First Aid lessons, and lots of other things. See! that window will show you a class of children away out on the prairie at a little hospital where the Juniors go down every month and take a lesson from the Red Cross Nurse. There is a mother and her baby in bed. All those girls are listening to a lecture on Baby Care from the nurse and then they will get the baby (just a great big doll you know) and they will dress it and fix the bed and learn a lot how to handle it. That's nice, for when we are big and grown-up mothers then we will know the best way to do for our little babies. Then the boys get lessons in First Aid too. These prairie children just love their Red Cross Health classes.

Hogmany Masquerade At Chauvin

Everybody take note of this date, December 31st. New Years Eve for the Chauvin Command of the G. W. V. A. are putting on one grand and glorious Masquerade Ball, with confetti and streamers, decorations and everything. There will be prizes for the best costumed lady and gent there will be a real live reception committee who will attend to your comfort. A good floor polished in great shape. Good Music and a buffet lunch, and all for the small sum of 75c per each adult including lunch—what more could you wish. Admission tickets obtainable at all stores.

The proceeds of the dance to go towards defraving expenses incurred by the Chauvin Command G. W. V. A. in erecting the memorial to our fallen comrades that now stands in intersection of Main Street and Second Ave. Everybody welcome.

Roros Xmas Tree

Roros Xmas tree, concert and dance was certainly one of the big events of the festive season, over 200 sons gathered at this rural school removed from the railroad town. One car came from Lethbridge and visitors from Dunvegan were in evidence.

Mr. Jack Bennet, as chairman, presided over a program of fifty-three items and of over two hours duration. Twenty-seven youthful artistes each took part, and in addition Mr. Grover Lasell gave a recitation and Mr. Bert Arlington a song. The program was well rendered and enthusiastically received.

Santa Claus, after his long journey, found a scene which surprised even him with all his varied experiences. The school was packed tight with the most happy throng of children and adults. Each window was wide open and was the centre of a crowd of others who could not gain admittance. It was with difficulty he wended his way to the tree which was most heavily laden and pilled around with a stack of good things. However, he soon got down to business, and performed his task in a most capable manner.

Refreshments were served by the ladies of the district; after which a dance was enjoyed by all.

Train Service Change

A change of times in the train service to become effective January 6th, is announced. No particulars as to how this district is affected are yet available.

In 1924 we will have one extra day in which to smile. But we hear the chronic grouch say "It's too bad they couldn't give it to us in June instead of February."

We thank you Ladies and Gentlemen for your very liberal patronage during the year that is now flickering and we trust the service we gave you warranted not only that patronage but your smile with it.

Wishing you all 365 smiling days in 1924 we close with this issue our eighth year in your midst. —The Chauvin Pharmacy.

Druggist & Optician

Local Notes Of Interest

Mr. Steele has recovered from his attack of asthma since returning to the Chauvin district.

The annual meeting of the Edin-glassie school district will be held at the school. Friday, 4th January 4th.

The Prosperity Curlers anticipate starting their seasons games within the next few days.

A shortage of one dollar bills prevailed at the bank last Saturday morning. This was remedied Monday by the arrival of new ones—Surely this is a day of small things.

The long continued shortage of cars has resulted in a serious reduction of the amount of money folks had available for Christmas spending. Many a little luxury and delicacy had to be gone without.

Charles Norman and John Cargill were visitors over Christmas at the home of Mr and Mrs D. Dundas at anwright.

Norman and Reg Harris are paying a visit to the west coast.

We regret to report that our friend, lawyer MacKenzie, spent Christmas in bed, suffering from throat trouble.

Dr. Folkins reported a slack day immediately following the Christmas festivities. Evidently nobody indulged too freely in the Christmas fare.

Miss Ethel Smith, having completed her three years with the Saskatoon General Hospital, arrived home in time to spend Christmas.

The local Sunday School acted as Santa Claus to the extent of sending out several parcels to local children, and in making a contribution to the Sunshine fund at Edmonton.

With six rinks already drawn up, and the possibility of more players coming in, Chauvin is away to a good start for its curling season.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Watson have installed a radio outfit at their home and look forward to many pleasant evenings.

Leaholme U. F. A.

The Leaholme U.F.A. will meet on the first and third Wednesday of each month, beginning Wednesday January 2nd. The meeting in the first Wednesday of each month will be of a social nature, whilst the third Wednesday of each month will be devoted to business.

Card Of Thanks

A Change to a Cash Basis

TO OUR RESPECTIVE PATRONS AND FRIENDS

WE HAVE DECIDED TO PUT OUR BUSINESS ON A CASH SYSTEM STARTING JANUARY 1st

Our reasons for so doing are founded on this year's facts and figures. Some of our customers wonder why the cost of merchandise is so high. One reason is the Credit System. We have to protect our selves, more or less, on bad debts; other reasons are postage, stationery for collections with interest on over-drawn accounts; which items amount to a considerable amount of money during a year.

On a Cash System we eliminate all these expenses; and, with cash we can buy at the lowest prices; and sell at the lowest prices—making your dollar go as far as possible.

Our Cash Prices for all provisions from January 1st will be the lowest consistent with the market prices then prevailing.

Butter and Eggs will be taken in as Cash, at the highest market prices.

Yours for More Business, Better Business and Service

LaPearl Xmas Tree

The La Pearl Christmas tree was held in the church at La Pearl. Friday evening, December 21st. The building was crowded, and a splendid program was well rendered. Miss D. Saul having trained the children from the south; Mrs J. H. Morrison and Miss Elsie Morrison, the children from the north.

At the close of the program the tree was unloaded, and the children made happy. The Young People's Society furnishing candies, nuts and fruit for the tree. A splendid lunch was served at the close.

Special thanks are given the P.P.S. who decorated the church for the occasion; also to Rev. W. Mitchelson who furnished the tree.

Russia Will Come Back

That Russia will come back shortly and mark the beginning of a trade revival in Europe by her return to the world's trade markets, is the opinion of W. J. Black, British superintendent of immigration for the Canadian National Railways, as expressed on his visit to Winnipeg this week. The nucleus of the Russian civil service is practically the same as it was in the old days. Mr. Black said, and the various business organizations are not so far behind as people are inclined to be.

The tongue kills more than the sword.

Knox Anniversary
At Ribstone

The Knox Union Church anniversary was held in the Knox Church, Sunday and Monday, December 16th and 17th. Special services were conducted by Rev. MacKenzie of Chauvin.

Large crowds turned out at both services. Special collection were taken up in aid of the building fund.

Monday evening a splendid program of songs, recitations, dialogues and readings were given. The special address by Rev. MacKenzie was greatly enjoyed by all.

Mr. Mitchelson also gave an interesting and inspiring address, dwelling largely on the work accomplished by the Ladies Aid of the community.

After the program a doughnut and pie social was given, and judging from the way the pies and doughnuts disappeared it was greatly enjoyed by all. We wish to thank all.

We wish to thank all who so kindly helped out with the program, especially Mrs A. E. Keith, Mrs G. McNutt and Rev. MacKenzie of Chauvin; and the Misses and Mr. Price, who contributed largely to the program.

At the close, a presentation was given to Miss Dominy, who is leaving this community after two years work in church and Sunday school. Rev. Mitchelson spoke feelingly of the splendid work done by her in the Sunday school, of which she had been superintendent since the Sunday school was organized. Mrs. Robt. Morrison, president of the Ladies Aid, read the address; and the secretary, Mrs. Jas. Russell presented Miss Dominy with a beautiful manicure roll.

Miss Dominy, being ill, was unable to rely, but asked the president to thank all most heartily for the beautiful presents, saying she had thoroughly enjoyed the work she had done.

The national anthem being sung, the pleasant evening was brought to a close.

ALL BUSY

A farmer sawing wood thought he ought to have the help of one or more of his boys. Lifting up his voice, he called, but not a boy appeared. At dinner, of course, all turned up.

"Where were all you boys?" asked the father, "about two hours ago when I wanted you and shouted for you?"

"I was in the shed settin' the saw," said one.

"And I was in the barn settin' a hen," said the second.

"I was in grandma's room settin' the clock," said the third.

"I was in the stable settin' the trap," said the fourth.

"You are a remarkable set," remarked the father. "And where were you?" he continued, turning to the youngest.

"Me!" said the youngster, thoughtfully. "I was on the doorstep, settin' still."

British Harvesters
Good Settlers

Who masters his tongue, saves his head.

That the harvesters brought to Canada by the railways this year are a desirable type of immigrant, was the opinion expressed by Melvil Jones, of the Soldiers' Settlement Board, in Toronto this week. Inspectors throughout the west had paid particular attention in their trips this fall to the work of the Britishers in the harvest fields and in practically all cases had found it satisfactory to the farmers and agreeable to the men.

C.N.R. Immigration Policy

An important and definite policy of immigration and colonization was decided upon by the Canadian National Railways as a result of a recent conference at general headquarters in Montreal. It provides for the bringing to Canada for suitable settlers, carefully selected, and helping them to become established as farmers after their arrival.

The New Ford Coupe

An entirely new body design of remarkable beauty as well as practical utility, is the distinguishing feature of the new Ford Coupe.

The body lines follow in one graceful sweep from the new high radiator to the "Turtle-back" curve of the rear deck, which has been enlarged to conveniently accommodate bulky grips and packages.

Upholstering is luxuriously deep both in the seat and back, the covering being of rich brown broadcloth with mahogany stripe. A recess shelf is provided behind the seat, for parcels.

Interior fittings include revolving window regulators, and door locks and handles finished in nickel. The large rear window is fitted with silk poplin shade in dull silvered mountings.

The windshield is surmounted by a broad sun-visor, which protects the eyes from glare.

As a handsome and practical all-weather car for town or country, the new Ford Coupe cannot be surpassed.
